

ZACHARY SWICK, GIS ANALYST

A southern New Hampshire native, Zach returned to the area in 2018 and started with the Commission shortly after. For the past decade he has worked in central Appalachia at the intersection of regional planning, data analysis, and public policy. During his career he has delivered on projects related to land use, economic and community development, housing, transportation, infrastructure, natural resources, recreation, public health, and more. Most recently he served as the geographic information systems (GIS) and data analyst for the New River Valley Regional Commission in Radford, VA.

Zach holds a master's degree from Appalachian State University and a bachelor's from the University of New Hampshire. In his spare time you can find him hiking, restoring antique furniture, reading, and being generally contrary.
